

Food for the Tarahumara's

September 2006: Food has been shipped, received and is loaded for transportation into the mountains for the people. It has been a massive project, gathering, arranging shipment and getting this across the border, but finally it is ready for distribution. There are 10 trucks loaded that are ready to ship the first of several loads to the Tarahumara's who are in desperate need of help. Hunger Plus worked these types of programs in the past and has again been able to help make a difference.
